The City is a mesmerising play by ground-breaking contemporary British playwright Martin Crimp. It takes the audience from the profoundly unsettling to the darkly comic.

A couple, whose marriage seems to be disintegrating and, on top of that, the husband is facing the very real threat of redundancy, and a neighbour.

Who or what is real in this ambiguous and intriguing drama that explores urban living, urban anxieties, terrorism, global insecurity and the nature of fiction?

The play is performed in English.
