Skype Duet is performed live simultaneously in New York and Copenhagen through Skype.

One woman tries to relate and connect to the world around her, using a laptop as the mode in which she communicates; a quest for human connection in the modern world.

Online choreographies of familiar forums tell the woman's story, examining notions of loneliness, togetherness, computer mediated communication and the human need for connection- the evolution of human relationships through technology.

A Skype call gives the audience the opportunity to interact directly and personally connect with New York City and its people.
