In "Abecedarium Bestiarium" Antonia Baehr has invited her friends to write short pieces for her, based on an ABC of extinct animals: D is for Dodo, T is for Tasmanian tiger and so on. The authors choose an extinct animal that they feel strongly about. This brings about heterogeneous choreographic miniatures in which they reflect their respective affinity to the chosen animal as well as their friendship to Antonia Baehr.

WORKS AT WORK is an international performance festival investigating artistic labor as a form of life. WAW takes place in November the next three years with this year's focus on solo works. The duo and collective format will be explored in 2015 and 2016.
