International performance festival WORKS AT WORK investigates artistic labor as a form of life.

WAW takes place the next three years and this year's focus is solo works. The duo and collective format will be explored in 2015 and 2016.

WAW invites students to participate, who represent the solo artist split between school and labor.

The students are: Sebastian Kahr from the Danish National School of Performing Arts performs "Miming/Imens spor karves", Cécile Bally from Inter-University Centre for Dance Berlin performing "An organisational study, that's my work" and Joana Tischkau from Institut für Angewandte Theaterwissenschaft Giessen performing WHAT.YEAH.
