In this sexual thriller, a midwestern man moves to New York and assumes the personality of Harry Clarke, a cocky Londoner. Leaving his timid self behind, after a childhood filled with abuse, disappointment and his mother dying, Harry is the alter ego invention the protagonist Philip has long yearned for. With new found confidence, humor, charm and indecent intentions, he manages to seduce several members of a wealthy family. The consequences caused by his outrageous double life is bound to have you on the edge of your seat.

Performed in rep with The Shy Manifesto as part of House of International Theatre's season of LGBTQ+ oriented plays, presented in collaboration with Bøssehuset.
