Af Asterions Hus

© Marta Wolowiec

The performance explores the concept of the body as the energy generator. The artist seeks organicity resulting from the flow of physical sensations, vibrations, following the voice of intuition. She gives herself time to develop, she also gives the audience time to tune their own bodies with the performer's. This piece is about tension, attentiveness and calmness, as well as the strength that can always be found by standing firmly on one's feet and breathe in and out deeply.
