Coming to roost in Copenhagen for one night only, Anthony Nielson's "Wonderful World of Dissocia" offers a provocative first-person view on the reality of mental disorder. Follow Lisa Jones down her personal rabbit hole, where things just make sense to those who've lost it, and the search to find what's lost can become spectacularly senseless.

Notoriously difficult to stage, this one-off rehearsed reading gives spectators the rare chance to encounter the world of Dissocia, discovering what awaits on the far side of euphoria. Prepared with no more than 8 hours of rehearsal, HIT's Staged Readings put the audience's finger directly on the pulse of international theatre.
